How do I find a supervisor?

Visit the Cultural Studies Program website to read faculty bios and learn more about faculty members’ research areas. When you find a faculty member with similar research interests to yours, contact him/her and tell them about your interest in graduate work and related experience.

What about funding?

Full-time Cultural Studies MA students receive a minimum funding package of $15,000 per year, for two years.

We encourage all students to apply for external awards and learn more about faculty members’ research areas. When you find a faculty member with similar research interests to yours, contact him/her and tell them about your interest in graduate work and related experience.

A Master’s degree in Cultural Studies can take your career in many directions. Many of our MA students choose to continue their academic inquiry with a PhD. Our Master’s students are equipped with a strong foundation for careers in:
- Academia and teaching
- Non-profit agencies
- Media
- Museums
- Galleries
- Civil Service
- Publishing houses
- Social policy agencies

Taking time to explore career options, build experience, and network can help you have a smooth transition to the world of work after graduation.

Why GRADUATE STUDIES in CULTURAL STUDIES?

“I valued the freedom to research what I wanted how I wanted without having to appease the disciplinary sensibilities of a committee who was set in their ways.”—Sharadje Mosunurjoh, PhD

Cultural Studies is graduate school reinvented for the 21st century. We are a self-governing, interdisciplinary graduate program for people who want to develop the tools to critically understand the world, and change it. The complexity of contemporary culture means that more than ever before society needs people trained in multiple disciplines, theories and practices. We work with communities throughout and beyond the university to create new forms and methods of research that could not be done in traditional departments. Our students write plays and curate exhibitions. They travel to Argentina, China and Turkey for their research. They win the highest academic accolades, including Fulbright and Vanier scholarships.

What unites all these diverse research agendas is our passion for social justice. We believe that all our research should in some way be capable of addressing real-world problems. Students work with indigenous peoples, artists, students, prisoners and activist groups to bring about social transformation. They also conduct artistic research-creation, and present their work in a variety of media. When they graduate, our students have superior intellectual tools and practical skills that will last them a lifetime outside of the university.

Why QUEEN’S?

Comprising 100 students and 90 distinguished faculty from 22 disciplines, Cultural Studies is an innovative and growing interdisciplinary research program for MA and PhD students. Our programs include opportunities for cultural production and community-activist fieldwork as options alongside traditional academic research. We are also committed to a diversity of students and faculty and to the global expertise that they bring to the cultural and academic fields. Students participate equally with faculty in the program’s governance.

Why KINGSTON?

Described by students as both “Quaint” and “eclectic,” Kingston is big enough to provide all the conveniences of modern life, and small enough for students, staff, and faculty to feel instantly comfortable and at home.

Queen’s is an integral part of the Kingston community, with the campus nestled in the core of the city, only a 10-minute walk downtown with its shopping, dining and waterfront. For more about Kingston’s history and culture, see Queen’s University’s Discover Kingston page.

GETTING STARTED

- Start with key priorities like developing your relationship with your supervisor.
- Regularly attend the Cultural Studies speakers and workshop series to learn about the scope of Cultural Studies research.
- Find your way through the academic process with help from departmental and Expanding Horizons professional development workshops, the Department Grad Chair and the SGS Habit.

MAXIMIZE RESEARCH IMPACT

- Start to think about the audiences for your research.
- If you will be continuing graduate studies, apply for SSHRC and OGS funding.

BUILD SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

- Consider positions in student services, the SGPS, or media outlets like the Queen's Journal, CFPIC, QTV and the SGS Blog. Look in the AMS Clubs Directory for more ideas.
- Serve on the Cultural Studies steering committee or other university committees. Talk to the student caucus for tips on getting involved.
- Check out professional development workshops from Expanding Horizons and the Cultural Studies program.

ENGAGE WITH YOUR COMMUNITY

- Explore how you can connect with your community through experiential opportunities on- and off-campus.
- Consider volunteering with different community organizations, cultural studies groups, and museums.
- Join the Cultural Studies Student Caucus (CSSC) to give input.

LAUNCH YOUR CAREER

- Finding a career that fits starts with knowing yourself. Get help by taking the Career Services Career Planning workshop or meeting with a career counsellor. Check out books like So What Are You Going to Do With That? for advice on various career options.
- Start reading publications like University Affairs and the Chronicle of Higher Education. Browse non-academic labour market websites. Stay on the lookout for special events like Graduate Students’ Career Week to explore your career pathways.
- Check admission test deadlines if needed for further studies.

INTERMEDIATE STAGE

- Consult with your supervisor and confirm which pattern you will be following for your thesis or project.
- Complete further coursework if required, and gain ethics clearance for your research if required.
- Form your supervisory committee, get your research proposal approved, and begin to research and write your project or thesis.
- Consider studying abroad with a Cultural Studies exchange partner.

WRAPPING UP

- Complete your project or thesis. Submit your thesis or project to the OSPACE archive.
- Consider participating in the 3 Minute Thesis (3MT) competition.
- Consider publication options for your research.
- Attend a major conference in your field, such as those put on by the Canadian Association of Cultural Studies.

EMPLOYABILITY SKILLS
