Why GRADUATE STUDIES in CULTURAL STUDIES?

Cultural Studies is graduate school reinvented for the 21st century. We are a self-governing, interdisciplinary graduate program for people who want to develop the tools to critically understand the world, and change it. The complexity of contemporary culture means that more than ever before society needs people trained in multiple disciplines, theories and practices. We work with communities throughout and beyond the university to create new forms and methods of research that could not be done in traditional departments. Our students write plays and curate exhibitions. They travel to Argentina, China and Turkey for their research. They win the highest academic accolades, including Fulbright and Vanier scholarships.

What unites all these diverse research agendas is our passion for social justice. We believe that all our research should in some way be capable of addressing real world problems. Students work with indigenous peoples, artists, students, prisoners and activist groups to bring about social transformation. They also conduct artistic research-creation, and present their work in a variety of media. When they graduate, our students have superior intellectual tools and practical skills that will last them a lifetime outside of the university.

"I valued the freedom to research what I wanted how I wanted without having to appease the disciplinary sensibilities of a committee who was set in their ways."

—Sharday Mosurinjohn, PhD

Why QUEEN'S?

Comprising 100 students and 90 distinguished faculty from 22 disciplines, Cultural Studies is an innovative and growing interdisciplinary research program for MA and PhD students. Our programs include opportunities for cultural production and community-activist fieldwork as options alongside traditional academic research. We are also committed to a diversity of students and faculty and to the global expertise that they bring to the cultural and academic fields. Students participate equally with faculty in the program's governance.

MASTER OF ARTS (MA)

GETTING STARTED

INTERMEDIATE STAGE

WRAPPING UP

ACHIEVE YOUR ACADEMIC GOALS

- Start with key priorities like developing your relationship with your supervisor, forming your committee, and doing your coursework.
- Regularly attend the Cultural Studies Colloquium (CUST 802/902) to learn about the scope of Cultural Studies research.
- Find your way through the academic process with help from departmental and Expanding Horizons professional development workshops, the department Grad Chair and the SGS Habitat.

MAXIMIZE RESEARCH IMPACT

- Start to think about the audiences for your research.
- If you will be continuing graduate studies, apply for SSHRC and OGS funding.

BUILD SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

- Consider positions in student services, the SGPS, or media outlets like the Queen's Journal, CFRC, and the SGS Blog. Look in the AMS Clubs Directory for more ideas.
- Serve on the Cultural Studies steering committee or other university committees. Talk to the student caucus for tips on getting involved.
- Check out professional development workshops from Expanding Horizons and the Cultural Studies program.

ENGAGE WITH YOUR COMMUNITY

- Explore how you can connect with your community through experiential opportunities on- and off-campus.
- Consider volunteering with different local community organizations, such as Martha's Table, or Loving Spoonful.
- Join the Cultural Studies Student Caucus \(CSSC\) to give input.

LAUNCH YOUR CAREER

- Finding a career that fits starts with knowing yourself. Get help by taking a Career Services career planning workshop or meeting with a career counsellor. Check out books like So What Are You Going to do With That? or The Academic Job Search from the Career Resource Area for advice on various career options.
- Start reading publications like University Affairs and the Chronicle of Higher Education. Browse non-academic labour market websites. Stay on the lookout for special events like Graduate Student Career Week to explore your career pathways.
- Check admission test deadlines if needed for further studies.

- Consult with your supervisor and confirm which pattern you will be following for your thesis or project.
- Complete further coursework if required, and gain ethics clearance for your research if required.
- Form your supervisory committee, get your research proposal approved, and begin to research and write your project or thesis.
- Consider studying abroad with a Cultural Studies exchange partner.

- Attend or present at a graduate conference such as Undisciplined, the Cultural Studies graduate symposium.
- Expand your research audience through social media such as Twitter or a blog.
- Complete the annual Report Form for your supervisor.

- Use a Research Assistant or Teaching Assistant position to develop your research or teaching skills.
- Start keeping an eportfolio of your skills, experiences and competencies.
- For help with teaching, get support from the Centre for Teaching and Learning. Enroll in SGS901 or the PUTL certificate for more professional development in teaching and learning.

- Participate in your graduate and professional community through activities such as graduate student outreach programs, organizing conferences, and research groups like Material Matters.
- If you are an international student interested in staying in Canada, consider speaking with an International Student Advisor.
- Consider diversifying your experience by participating in an international exchange program.

- Explore different careers of interest by reading alumni profiles on the SGS website, and using QueensConnects on LinkedIn to connect with Queen's alumni, or find alumni in various careers through "Ask an Alum".
- Check out the free online modules at MyGradSkills to help you plan your career.
- If you are considering a PhD, explore programs of interest reach out to faculty, and apply to PhD programs and external scholarships.

- Complete your project or thesis. Submit your thesis or project to the QSPACE archive.

- Consider participating in the 3 Minute Thesis \(3MT\) competition.
- Consider publication options for your research.
- Attend a major conference in your field, such as those put on by the Canadian Association of Cultural Studies.

- Practice articulating the skills you have been developing in settings outside the university, such as casual conversation, networking, and interviews. Get help from a Career Services workshop.
- Check out opportunities for extra training through CTL, Expanding Horizons, Mitacs, or other sources to boost your skills.
- Investigate internships from Mitacs and other sources.

- Do some targeted networking with people working in careers of interest, through QueensConnects on LinkedIn, the Queen's Alumni Association, professional associations, and at conferences. Get help from a Career Services workshop.
- Consider joining professional associations like the Canadian Association of Cultural Studies.
- Prepare for work or studies in a multi-cultural environment by taking QUIC's Intercultural Competency Certificate.

- Participate in hiring committees and attend job talks. Start focusing on areas of interest. Research organizations of interest and start putting together your C.V. or resume for potential positions of interest. Get help from Career Services with job searching, resumes, or interviews.
