Why GRADUATE STUDIES in KINESIOLOGY & HEALTH STUDIES?

The Kinesiology and Health Studies programs offer you the opportunity to study health, exercise physiology, physical activity, movement, and socio-cultural phenomena of the body. Students may study the mechanics of movement; the body's physiological responses to exercise; physical activity at a population or global level; the promotion of health, wellbeing, and social justice among communities; the psychology of sport and physical activity; the effects of biological factors on individual health; and the effects of socio-cultural factors on individual, community, and population health.

"The SKHS graduate program draws students from diverse disciplines and provides them with a space where they can develop holistically through the personalized mentorship of dedicated, internationally-recognized faculty."

- Colin Baillie, PhD Candidate

Why QUEEN'S?

Our students have the opportunity to collaborate with internationally-recognized researchers on exciting, multi-disciplinary research projects in state-of-the-art facilities in our own, standalone building completed in 2009.

Cross-disciplinary opportunities with other Queen's departments enhance the graduate experience. Collaborations are available with Biomedical and Molecular Sciences, Commerce, Cultural Studies, Faculty of Education, Gender Studies, Global Development Studies, Mechanical and Materials Engineering, Psychology, Public Health Sciences, Geography and Planning, and Sociology. Students may pursue research activities with a number of our community-based partners, including the Boys and Girls Club of Kingston; HIV/AIDS Regional Services; Kingston, Frontenac and Lennox & Addington Public Health; and the Limestone District School Board.

AVAILABLE Programs

ACHIEVE YOUR ACADEMIC GOALS

- Key priorities include coursework, establishing advisory committee, and attending a SKHS Graduate Seminar.
- Meet early with your supervisor to set expectations and discuss roles, responsibilities, program requirements, resources, research/ occupational goals, timelines, and any required accommodation plans.
- Look to Student Academic Success Services for a variety of supports. Attend the SKHS Research Colloquium.

- Successfully complete your comprehensive exam.
- · Embark on your substantive research.
- Find your way through the academic process with the help of School of Graduate Studies and Postdoctoral Affairs (SGSPA) professional development and the SGSPA website.
- · Attend at least 80% of the SKHS Seminar Series.
- Set up regular meetings with your supervisor to discuss progress and obstacles to timely completion. Seek experiential/professional development opportunities.
- Continue to meet regularly with your supervisor, review research progress, and write your dissertation. Check out the SGSPA writing camps, such as Dissertation Boot Camp.
- Use conference presentations to create, discuss, and explore ways to disseminate research findings.
- Present at the SKHS Research Colloquium.
- Begin discussion of potential thesis defence examiners.
- Plan date of thesis submission for examination.
- Present your research at conferences and work with your supervisor to prepare for defence.
- Review submission and examination guidelines.
- Secure necessary oral defence accommodations.

MAXIMIZE RESEARCH IMPACT

- Think about audiences for your research.
- Complete CORE online module on research ethics if doing research regarding sensitive topics.
- Apply for Tri-Council Funding (SSHRC, NSERC, CIHR).
- Attend or present at a graduate conference such as the Macintosh Conference or the Horwood Conference.
- Expand your research audience through social media such as Twitter or a blog.
- Apply for the Graduate Dean's Travel Grant for Doctoral Field Research.
- Continue to present at conferences.
- Consider participating in the 3 Minute Thesis (3MT) or GRADflix competition.
- Contact the Queen's Media Centre for guidance on speaking to news outlets about your work.
- List yourself on the Arts and Science University Research website.
- Continue to attend conferences and connect with scholars in your field and with community partners.

Graduate Studies FAQs

How do I make the most of my time at Queen's?

Use the Grad Map to plan for success in five overlapping areas of your career and academic life. Everyone's journey is different - the ideas on the maps are just suggestions to help you explore possibilities. For more support with your professional development, take advantage of the SGSPA professional development framework and the new Professional Development Plan (PDP) process to set customized goals to help you get career ready when you graduate.

Where can I get help?

Queen's provides you with a broad range of support services from your first point of contact with the university through to graduation. Ranging from help with academics and careers, to physical, emotional, or spiritual resources – our welcoming environment offers the programs and services you need to be successful, both academically and personally. Check out the SGSPA website for available resources.

What is the community like?

In the multi-disciplinary environment of the SKHS graduate programs, students have a unique opportunity to learn across disciplines and with peers who come from varied academic, geographic, and personal backgrounds. Students and staff have opportunities to share roles in program governance. To cover tuition and offset the cost of living in Kingston, graduate students receive a competitive funding package comprised of teaching and/or research assistant placements and awards and/or fellowships. In SKHS, graduate students also have opportunities to engage in the broader Kingston community, of which Queen's University is an integral part. For more information about Kingston's history and culture, see Queen's University's Discover Kingston resource.
