Health Studies

Health Studies strives to understand the complex factors that influence physical, mental and social health and overall well-being. Drawing largely from social science disciplines, our courses explore the social determinants of health, approaches to health promotion, health policy, health behaviour change, epidemiology, and program planning and evaluation. You’ll be expected to challenge yourself and to think critically about health in relation to social justice, politics and culture. And you will gain the skills you need to do that.

Alumni Story

“The Health Studies program challenged me to think about health as more than just a physical condition, using the social determinants of health to better understand the complex factors that contribute to one’s wellbeing. I have grown both academically and personally from my time in the program as a result of the accomplished faculty members, experiential learning opportunities, and environment that fosters a successful culture of learning.”

- Sophie Leadbetter, HLTH ’21

TOP 5 REASONS to study HEALTH STUDIES

Focus on social science perspectives of health and wellness. Students think critically about the social, political, psychological and cultural dimensions of health and wellbeing.

Tailored independent research opportunities, including a third-year placement in a research lab/program and an Honours thesis option.

We emphasize experiential learning and community involvement in our program, including an optional community-based practicum in a health related workplace.

We partner with the Queen’s castle in England (BISC) to offer a third-year cluster of Health Studies courses, as well as, a spring program in Global Health and Disability.

We offer a capstone course in Health Program Planning and Evaluation to best prepare our students for a range of postgraduate paths.

Why study in Kingston?

For 175 years, our community has been more than a collection of bright minds – Queen’s has attracted students with an ambitious spirit. Queen’s has the highest retention rates, the highest graduation rates, and one of the highest employment rates among recent graduates. We are a research intensive university focused on the undergraduate experience. The BBC has identified Kingston as one of the GREATEST UNIVERSITY TOWNS in the world – and it is often awarded the safest city in Canada. It is a university city at the core; just a quick drive to Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and even New York. A university with more clubs per capita than any other university in Canada, and a city with more restaurants per capita than any other city in North America – you will have the experience of a lifetime at Queen’s – and graduate with a degree that is globally recognized among the best.

Get started thinking about the future now – where do you want to go after your degree? Having tentative goals (like careers or grad school) while working through your degree can help with short-term decisions about courses and experiences, but also help you keep motivated for success.

Get the help you need

Queen’s provides you with a broad range of support services from your first point of contact with the university through to graduation. At Queen’s, you are never alone. We have many offices dedicated to helping you learn, think and do.

Ranging from help with academics and careers, to physical, emotional, or spiritual resources – our welcoming living and learning environment offers the programs and services you need to be successful, both academically and personally. Queen’s wants you to succeed! Check out the Student Affairs website for available resources.
