

Indigenous Studies

The Major in Indigenous Studies is an interdisciplinary degree that draws together a range of course offerings on Indigenous histories, cultures, experiences, languages, and ways of knowing from across Arts and Science. The program gives Indigenous and non-Indigenous students an opportunity to immerse themselves in Indigenous ways of knowing and being in the world to ensure that future leaders and policymakers have a grounded understanding of the lived realities of First Nations, Métis, and Inuit Peoples. Students expand their knowledge and understanding of Indigenous cultures, while developing professional skills, such as innovative Indigenous approaches to learning and research, to work with Indigenous communities.

TOP 5 REASONS to study INDIGENOUS STUDIES

- 1 Become knowledgeable on the lived histories of Indigenous peoples in Canada and beyond and contribute to the ongoing work of reconciliation.
- 2 Learn Indigenous languages at the beginner level.
- 3 Develop skills to work with Indigenous knowledge systems and methodologies, framed by Indigenous pedagogies and learning practices.
- 4 Get out on the land to learn from our first teacher and engage with local Indigenous knowledge keepers and communities.
- 5 Choose from a variety of interdisciplinary courses from the humanities, social sciences, and beyond to broaden your worldview and strengthen your critical thinking skills.

Alumni STORY

"Through the interactions and the knowledge I have gained both in and outside of classes, I have grown as an individual in the best ways possible. In order to change the world, we must first change ourselves."

- Lauren Ball, BAH '19

Why study in Kingston?

For 175 years, our community has been more than a collection of bright minds – Queen's has attracted students with an ambitious spirit. Queen's has the highest retention rates, the highest graduation rates, and one of the highest employment rates among recent graduates. We are a research intensive university focused on the undergraduate experience. The BBC has identified Kingston as one of the GREATEST UNIVERSITY TOWNS in the world – and it is often awarded the safest city in Canada. It is a university city at the core; just a quick drive to Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and even New York. A university with more clubs per capita than any other university in Canada, and a city with more restaurants per capita than any other city in North America – you will have the experience of a lifetime at Queen's – and graduate with a degree that is globally recognized among the best.

We're closer than you think.
