CONCURRENT EDUCATION

Concurrent Education at Queen’s is a program that prepares students who are passionate about teaching and learning to become educators.

Con-Ed grads are caring, critically reflective and dedicated to inclusivity, social justice, collaboration and leadership. They are viewed favourably by school boards and other prospective employers due to their additional field experience in schools and early exposure to issues and policies in education.

Our “Con-Eddies” are a close-knit group of students who bond during their first 4 years at Queen’s, through shared activities and leadership opportunities. One of the highlights of the 5th year of the program is the three-week Alternative Practicum, which can be done outside a school setting and anywhere in the world as long as it is related to your area of study. Queen’s also offers travel fellowships to support international practicum placements.

With Queen’s Con-Ed, you will be working on two degrees at the same time – an Honours Bachelor of Arts, Science, Fine Art or Music, and a Bachelor of Education degree – both from day one! The B.Ed. degree from Queen’s is widely accepted for teacher certification across Canada and around the world. What makes Queen’s grads more marketable is that they will all graduate with a concentration in one subject area, as listed under Degree Options.

A Common START

Queen’s Con-Ed offers two program options that lead to certification in Primary-Junior (Junior Kindergarten – Grade 6) or Intermediate-Senior (Grades 7 – 12). Students select one option at the end of first year.

Your first year of Queen’s Con-Ed is all about exploring options. You will all take an introductory teaching course and complete placements in Primary, Junior and/or Intermediate settings before choosing your preferred divisions.

Course HIGHLIGHTS

All students take courses about schools, teaching and curriculum, planning for learning, assessment and evaluation, professional teaching practice, equity, inclusivity and special education, psychology, philosophy and social justice. These courses will allow you to critically reflect on how you will practice as an educator.

That is a degree from Queen’s.
