

Combined JD in Law with Graduate Studies in

Industrial Relations, Economics, or Public Administration

MIR/JD, MA/JD
& MPA/JD

Why combine the JURIS DOCTOR with a MASTER'S degree?

Because today's knowledge-based economy demands law graduates with specialized and interdisciplinary education, the Queen's Faculty of Law has partnered with the School of Graduate Studies to offer students cross-disciplinary legal education in three combined degree programs: Master of Industrial Relations/Juris Doctor, Master of Arts (Economics)/Juris Doctor and Master of Public Administration/Juris Doctor.

The Master of Industrial Relations/Juris Doctor (MIR/JD) is a 3.5 year combined degree program that merges graduate training in human resources management, employment and labour policy with a professional degree in law. Likewise, the Master of Public Administration/Juris Doctor (MPA/JD) is a 3.5 year combined program. The MPA/JD is an excellent choice if you seek to combine advanced skills in policy analysis and management with training in law for successful policy development and implementation. In the three-year MA (Econ)/JD combined degree program, students receive excellent training and gain a strong comparative advantage to pursue careers in specialized legal work that requires knowledge of economic theory and social science methods, high-level policy work, and academia.
