Health Studies strives to understand the complex factors that influence physical, mental and social health and overall well-being. Drawing largely from social science disciplines, our courses explore the social determinants of health, approaches to health promotion, health policy, health behaviour change, epidemiology, and program planning and evaluation. You’ll be expected to challenge yourself and to think critically about health in relation to social justice, politics and culture. And you will gain the skills you need to do that.

Alumni STORY

“As a Health Studies student, I learned in a multi-disciplinary and supportive academic environment. I greatly benefitted from the program’s high quality instructors and the research opportunities available to enrich student development!”

-Rachel Hayton HLTH ’17

That is a degree from Queen’s.

In first year you will have the chance to explore the foundations of Health Studies along with some electives.

Attend Majors Night in the Winter term to learn more about Plan options.

Start going deeper into the discipline of Health Studies, while considering a certificate such as Disability and Physical Activity. Want to make sure your academics are where you want them to be? Visit SASS (Student Academic Support Services) and the Writing Centre for some help.

Consider applying at the end of winter term to the Community Based Practicum (HLTH 300) and/or the Research Skills Development Practicum (HLTH 352).

A chance to start grouping courses in areas of interest, or to keep it more general and explore many areas of Health Studies.

Meet with an Academic Advisor to make sure you are on track and have planned out your courses for next year.

Join teams or clubs on campus such as Queen’s First Aid or Queen’s Health Outreach.

Take Queen’s Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) training.

See the AMS Clubs Directory or the Queen’s Get Involved page for more ideas.

Look into summer jobs by talking to the dept. or Career Services about work through SWEP or USSRF.

Take more responsibility within different clubs or extra-curricular activities.

Think about applying to positions in student services or the Alma Mater Society.

Consider applying to do a 12-16 month QUIP internship between your third and fourth year.

Volunteer in the Revved Up lab.

Consider entrepreneurial opportunities via programs like the Queen’s Innovation Connector Summer Initiative (QICSI).

Get involved with the Health Departmental Student Council (HLTH DSC).

Start or continue volunteering with organizations such as Queen’s Health Outreach (QHO) or Raise the Bar. Consider becoming a Peer Health Educator with Student Wellness Services.

Do large careers or Queen’s network events on campus.

Attend the annual School of Kinesiology Mini-Career Fair.

Prepare for work or studies in a multi-cultural environment by taking QUIC’s Intercultural Competency Certificate, and research possible immigration regulations.

Speak to a QUIC advisor to get involved in their programs, events, and training opportunities.

Is an exchange in your future? Start thinking about where you would like to study abroad. Apply in January for a third year exchange through the International Programs Office.

Broaden your cultural horizons by getting involved with other cultures or by practicing or improving your language skills.

Consider spending the winter term of your third year at the castle studying a cluster of global health related courses (9.0 units at the 300-level). Stay at the BISC for an intensive spring term for the Interdisciplinary Studies in Disability and Global Health (9.0 units at the 400-level).

Grappling with program decisions? Research the degree: look at the HLTH – Current Students and check out the HLTH Courses Summaries. Get some help wondering about career options from Career Services.

Explore different careers by reading books in the Career Services Career Advising and Resource Area, such as Top 100 Health-Care Careers. For more information check out Career Cruising or by finding and connecting with alumni on LinkedIn. Attend the annual School of Kinesiology Mini-Career Fair.

Why study in Kingston?
For over 175 years, our community has been more than a collection of bright minds – Queen’s has attracted students with an ambitious spirit. Queen’s has the highest retention rates, the highest graduation rates, and one of the highest employment rates among recent graduates. We are a research intensive university focused on the undergraduate experience. The BBC has identified Kingston as one of the GREATEST UNIVERSITY TOWNS in the world – and it is often awarded the safest city in Canada. It is a university city at the core; just a quick drive to Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and even New York. A university with more clubs per capita than any other university in Canada, and a city with more restaurants per capita than any other city in North America – you will have the experience of a lifetime at Queen’s – and graduate with a degree that is globally recognized among the best.
